Mastitis is ugly.

It’s the most costly and common dairy cattle disease and it’s estimated farmers pay $97 per mastitis case. Over half of that cost is from discarded milk—loss preventable with proper treatment.

The most effective treatment strategies include... the use of antibiotics for an appropriate duration.

Dr. Pamela L. Ruegg, DVM, MPVM

A healthy cow is a beautiful thing. And so is milk quality. Treat with antibiotics.

www.bovinemed.com
Bovine Medical Inc. ©
(study conducted by the University of Wisconsin, Madison)
photo (c) R. Burgos S. - Costa Rica